

TENNESSEE BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Forensic Services Division

Toxicology Quality Assurance and Procedures Manual

6.13 Evaporation Stations

6.13 Evaporation Stations

Evaporation stations are multi-sample evaporators that use a combination of dry gas (e.g., nitrogen) and dry block heaters to reduce samples to dryness or an end point volume or accelerate the derivatization of samples. Temperatures are not critical; therefore, no further verification shall be required.